TWENTIETH

ANNIVERSARY SALE

1906

It is 20 years since our doors first swung open to an appreciative public—20 years and it seems almost like yesterday—for we've filled every minute of the time with honest, earnest endeavor to make this most helpful store, the most comfortable and economical place in which to supply your needs. The prosperity and growth of this establishment shows that no small measure of success has always attended our efforts.

So much for retrospective view—now for the future. We are going to round out this initial year by holding during the next few days "An Anniversary Sale."

This shall NOT be an offering of old style merchandise—of shop-worn goods, entirely; the occasion, and its significance, deserves a more worthy and unusual observance and celebration.

Each department in this store will offer its best and in each department you will find wanted garments and fabrics UNDERPRICED.

In short there will be no time so good to save on reasonable, stylish, dependable goods as now. The savings average one-fourth, one-third and one-half in many cases.

There is little more to tell—on paper—we hope to see you here, hope that you may come and share in the helpfulness of this store, and at the same time aid in making the occasion a happy and enjoyable one—to live long in our memory and yours.

It is estimated that Montpelier's building record for the year just passed is represented by an expenditure of $100,000, largely in tenements, although the chapel at the Green Mount cemetery is figured in at a cost of $32,000. One new granite plant, Blanchin's, to replace the structure burned, was built. There is said to be quite a demand for tenements in Montpelier.

A Montpelier pencil-pusher presents this gem: A young woman, who resembles a Gibson girl, was tripping down the street the other afternoon when one of the mind readers, who remain glued to the head of State street they are awake, declared that the young woman was from Barre. When asked on what basis he made his deduction, the mind reader called attention to the fact that the young woman wore rubber boots.
